II. Summary

This course is both theoretical and practical. It presents different theoretical approaches to leadership and leadership styles. It also offers strategies for students to develop leadership through peer and self-evaluation exercises that promote these abilities.

We will think critically about effective leadership, the traits and ethics that should accompany it, the motivation that guides leaders, and how they influence others to utilize power and promote change.

III. Course Objectives

The course is theoretical and practical and has two objectives:

- First, it seeks to analyze the historical relevance of leadership as a concept for understanding theoretical perspectives and their evolution. By the end of the course, the student should be able to understand the links between leadership and current developments in people management and human behavior in organizations and identify the primary management abilities related to leadership in organizations.
- Second, it aspires to help the participants develop their leadership abilities by assessing and monitoring the evolution of their leadership competencies during the course through teamwork and with the help of their teammates.

IV. Learning Outcomes

Concerning the first objective, by the end of the course, the student should be able to:

- Identify and explain the leadership concept.
- Distinguish the core elements that influence organizational leadership to optimize control and direction in management.
- Identify different leadership theories and understand their practical application in organizations.
- Explain different leadership styles and their effect on motivation and engagement.
- Analyze and describe the importance of power relationships, culture, and diversity in leadership situations and their impact on organizational behavior and achievement.
- Identify the leader as a key organizational figure and analyze their leadership style.
- Identify the key competencies necessary for leadership development.

- Determine their strengths and areas of improvement regarding these critical competencies, drawing up a Personal Plan for Improvement.
- Work effectively in teams, contributing to achieving the team's objectives.

V. Metodology

This course offers a teaching perspective based on the combination of activities that promote knowledge transfer through exposure to theory and practice. This invites students to act independently and creatively based on a solid professional motivation that allows them to persevere in seeking solutions. Learning sessions combine professor and students' presentations with class activities and IT tools such as group dynamics, case analysis, discussions, and virtual games, so students' active participation is expected.

Therefore, reading the chapters of the textbooks and the supplementary materials selected are mandatory and must be completed by students on schedule.

VI. Evaluation

The evaluation system is permanent and comprehensive. The course grade is obtained by averaging the ongoing assessment or PEP (70%), and the final exam (30%)

The final average (PF) is obtained as follows:

$$PF = (0.70 \times PEP) + (0.30 \times EF)$$

Where:

PF = Promedio Final (Course Final Grade)

PEP = Promedio de evaluación permanente y (Ongoing Assessment Grade)

EF = Examen Final (Final Exam grade)

Ongoing assessment is the weighted average of the corresponding activities to track students' learning process: reading controls, presentations, case analyses, and a final group project. The weights within the ongoing assessment are described in the following table:

ONGOING ASSESSMENT (PEP) 70%
ACTIVITY	Description	weight %
Entry Assessment	Self-Assessment diagnosis – Not Graded	0
Reading Control.	6 reading controls*	20%
Case Analysis	2 individual cases, 1 team case analysis	25%
Presentations	6 Team oral presentations	25%
Final Project	Final Team Group Project	25%
Participation	Class attendance and Participation	5%
TOTAL PEP		100%

*Six reading Controls will be delivered individually. The Reading Control with the lowest grade will be eliminated, so only five will be considered for the final score.

 Teams will prepare their presentations according to the instructions on the first day of class. At the end of the course, the team must send the document on an EDITABLE template to obtain the teacher's feedback. Each team will evaluate the participation of its members in each presentation that they will have. The final grade for each presentation is obtained from the teacher's rubric (85%) and team assessment (15%)

 Students will receive written instructions and due dates for these activities. They must comply with the due dates. Otherwise, the students will have a grade of "0" on these projects.
